

LIA 2020 Awards cancelled

The London International Awards (LIA) has announced it has cancelled its 2020 event and the Creative LIAisons program due to the novel coronavirus pandemic. The awards will return in 2021 to continue to recognise excellent work and educate and inspire young industry creatives.

"I would like to thank you for the support, and look forward to resuming in 2021. This is the responsible course of action to take at this time and is in the interests of the industry, which is what LIA has always stood for," LIA president Barbara Levy said in a statement.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>