

Health24 appoints in-house doctor

Health24 has appointed Dr Owen J Wiese as their resident doctor. With degrees in medicine and science, and qualifications in biochemistry and physiology from the University of Stellenbosch, he also boasts experience in both the public and private health sectors.

This, combined with a passion for media and publishing, makes Dr Owen perfectly suited to augment Health24's already substantial healthcare information offering and to bring a human touch to the digital platforms. With his passion for multimedia, Health24 users can now look forward to visual medical content that Dr Owen will play an integral role in creating.
