

Burson-Marsteller appoints senior advisor

Public relations and communications firm, Burson-Marsteller, has appointed Geoff McDonald as its senior advisor on corporate purpose and organisational change. McDonald was former global VP of HR for marketing, communication, sustainability and global talent at Unilever. McDonald's role will include helping companies and organisation embed corporate purpose into their business performance.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>