

Angie Austin appointed as New Balance SA's marketing manager

Sports footwear and apparel brand, New Balance South Africa, has appointed Angie Austin as its new marketing manager. Austin replaces Katharine Stewart, who has moved into the national sales manager role.

Austin joined New Balance in 2014 as a marketing assistant where she provided support to the national sales manager and the New Balance sales team. In 2017, her title changed to trade marketing coordinator and she was promoted to retail brand presentation coordinator role in 2020.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>