

TransUnion appoints new senior director of commercial

Mark Heymann has been appointed as senior director of commercial. TransUnion has included significant investment into technology, particularly within the commercial business as part of its commitment to delivering enhanced data insight and intelligence to customers. His appointment is the next step on this journey to provide improved customer service and enhanced customer solutions.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>