

Mark Willis is AccorHotels MEA's new CEO

Mark Willis is the new CEO of AccorHotels in the Middle East and Africa. He will be responsible for overseeing a combined network of close to 400 hotels in operation and pipeline across the region.

He is tasked with driving operational excellence through top-line performance, quality, and guest satisfaction, and driving the region's growth.

Before joining AccorHotels, he was the president of Mövenpick Hotels & Resorts in the Asia region. He also held a number of senior leadership roles at the Radisson Hotel Group (formerly Carlson Rezidor Hotel Group).

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>