

#BeautifulNews: The fabric binding this community is sewn by a seamstress with no hands

Bolekwa Salusalu has no hands, but she sews every single day. The 62-year-old is a designer and creator of immaculately stitched wedding dresses, traditional outfits, and school uniforms. Draped around her modest studio are a range of colourful garments, each pattern more interesting than the next. Her friend Luluma Mnyute is perpetually bowled over by Salusalu's talent. "Bolekwa, without hands she has done this!" Mnyute says. Salusalu works tirelessly to provide for her family from her home in the Eastern Cape, but she does it with style.

Read Bolekwa Salusalu's full story here.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>