Established in 1998 by the DMASA, The Assegai Awards serve as a prominent event to recognise outstanding achievements in direct marketing. More than just an accolade, the awards also provide a valuable networking platform for industry professionals.

Vicky Grant, CEO of Dragonfly Direct Marketing and The Dragonfly Agency (UK), is delighted to be affiliated with the Assegais award ceremony. As a former judge of the prestigious event and her extensive experience in international direct mail for over 20 years, Grant sees this as a fantastic opportunity for South African Dragonfly clients to demonstrate and praise their dedication in crafting meticulous direct mail campaigns.

The Assegai Awards symbolise brilliance in direct marketing, referencing the precision of an Assegai spear hitting specific targets. Dragonfly recognises the importance of efficiency in direct marketing channels and is proud to associate itself with a platform that encourages industry players to achieve greatness in their campaigns. The sponsorship also strengthens our agency's position as a key player in the direct marketing industry, fostering valuable connections and collaborations within the field internationally.
